DAYTON -- Awarding of the 1958 Marian Library medal will highlight the sixth Marian Institute at the University of Dayton June 13-14.

The award is given each year to the author of the book on the Blessed Virgin Mary written in English and published in the United States adjudged as doing most to promote knowledge of the Blessed Virgin.

The two-day Institute will feature addresses by three authors noted for their writings on the Blessed Virgin. They are Fr. James M. Egan, professor of dogma at St. Mary's College graduate school of theology, Notre Dame, Ind.; Sr. Mary Jean Dorcy, O.P., Mineola Park, Calif., and Mrs. Mary Reed Newland, author and lecturer of Monson, Mass.

Theme of the Institute is "The Meaning of Lourdes."
